

CURRY LAKSA WITH SEAFOOD

As seen on Fish and Hunt Australia

Malaysian Food

I like to describe Malaysian food as the original fusion cuisine - it is the result of a melting pot of flavours and cooking techniques from its multiracial population of Malays, Chinese, Indians, Nyonyas, the indigenous people and other immigrant groups. This in combination with an abundance of local fresh ingredients and spices makes Malaysian food simply irresistible.

About Dollee Products

One of the biggest barriers to recreating authentic Malaysian flavours at home is the lack of knowledge and accessibility to a lot of the ingredients used in Malaysian recipes. Dollee products are designed to take the guesswork out of trying to figure out where to find all these exotic ingredients plus they are incredible timesavers in the kitchen.

I have to admit I am often a bit leery about buying commercially prepared pastes because they taste, well, mass-produced and artificial. I have not found that to be the case with Dollee products, which I was first introduced to at a Food and Wine Festival a couple of years ago.

Dollee Curry Laksa with Seafood

Ingredients:

- 1 packet of Dollee Curry Laksa Paste 200g (Serves 4 bowls).
- Seafood (I used prawns and fish fillets in the show).
- Rice vermicelli (Can be replaced with pasta).
- Coconut Milk or coconut cream 400ml
- Garnishing - Coriander or mint leaves

Steps:

1. Boil rice vermicelli. Distribute into bowls.
2. Boil 1200ml water. Add Dollee Curry Laksa Paste.
3. Add seafood into the soup.
4. Just before they are cooked, add coconut milk.
5. Pour over bowls of noodles.
6. Garnish with coriander or mint Leaves.
